Thomas Fitt (1827-1890)

Son of Felix Fitt and Sarah Abbs

Wife, Ann Bennett (m. 02 Jul 1849)

Thomas, born 15 April 1827, Buxton, Norfolk, England.

Thomas's father, Felix Fitt, was born April 16th 1797, Buxton, Norfolk, England. Thomas's Mother, Sarah Abbs, was born June 7th 1794, Runton, Norfolk, England

Childhood

When Thomas was just 12 years old, his mother, Sarah, died. Being quite depressed and discouraged, by his wife's death, Thomas's dad, Felix, drank heavily and couldn't find work ... his children were forced to find work and support themselves.

Thomas, his brother James, and a cousin worked on a farm in Norfolk. They were hired by the year and were paid a schilling less than the married men working at the same job. Thomas, a young man at this time, resented being paid so little, so he left Norfolk, and made his way to Manchester, which was about 168 miles away; Manchester, being a very big city in the county of Yorkshire. Today, Manchester is in the Greater Manchester County.

Thomas Marries, Ann Bennett, and Raises a Family

It was in Manchester, that Thomas met his wife to be, Ann Bennett. Ann was born in Rotherham, Yorkshire, England, March 9th 1829. Thomas was 21 years old, when he married Ann. They were married in Christ's Church of Doncaster, July 2nd 1849. The story goes, that Ann Bennett had the reputation of being the best looking girl in Manchester (lucky Thomas, but could she cook?) Together, Thomas & Ann had the following children: Sarah, born 10 Nov 1850; Thomas, born 20 July 1851; William, born 4 Dec 1853; George, born 7 June 1855; Felix, born 28 Jun 1858; Maria, born 28 Nov 1863; Elizabeth, born 10 Aug 1852; and John, born 22 Jan 1860.

The Coal Mines & Family Brick Business

Thomas worked in the coal mines in winter and his sons worked with him except for his son, Felix; who, for whatever reason, would not go to the coal mines. In the summer months, their business was making bricks. Felix worked with them making bricks, though his job was to carry bricks from the mold table to dry in the sun. Thomas also burned (baked) pottery. His daughter, Sarah, put the flowered patterns on the pottery before baking.

Joining the LDS Church

Thomas Fitt and his family went to the Methodist Church in Kimberworth, which is near Rotherham and Homes, Yorkshire, England.

On day while walking down the street, Thomas heard the Mormon missionaries preaching on the street. He was very much interested and invited them to dinner. Upon their arrival for dinner, Ann, gave them a very cold and bitter reception. She went on to say that they, the missionaries, would have to wait until her children ate because she would not have her children crowded out. She also said, that if they ever came again, she would “scald the devils”.

Charles Hennery Parkins, president of the local Mormon branch, came over every Sunday and conducted services at Rotherham. Thomas was baptized into the LDS Church 14 July 1861, by Elder Robert Edwards, confirmed by Elders Robert Edwards & Joseph Huntington. Ann was not baptized 3 years later, 10 Oct 1864, by Elder Robert Edwards, confirmed by Elders Robert Edwards & Joseph Huntington. On 2 Jun 1867, George, Felix, and siblings were baptized by Elder Henry Parkins.

On Sundays, the family attended Sunday school between 9am and 12noon, then an evening meeting from 7pm - 9pm. Making an outing of it, the family went to the Ann's parents' house, taking a basket of supper with them. The family rode by donkey cart, dressed in their “Sunday Best” with plenty of good food to eat.

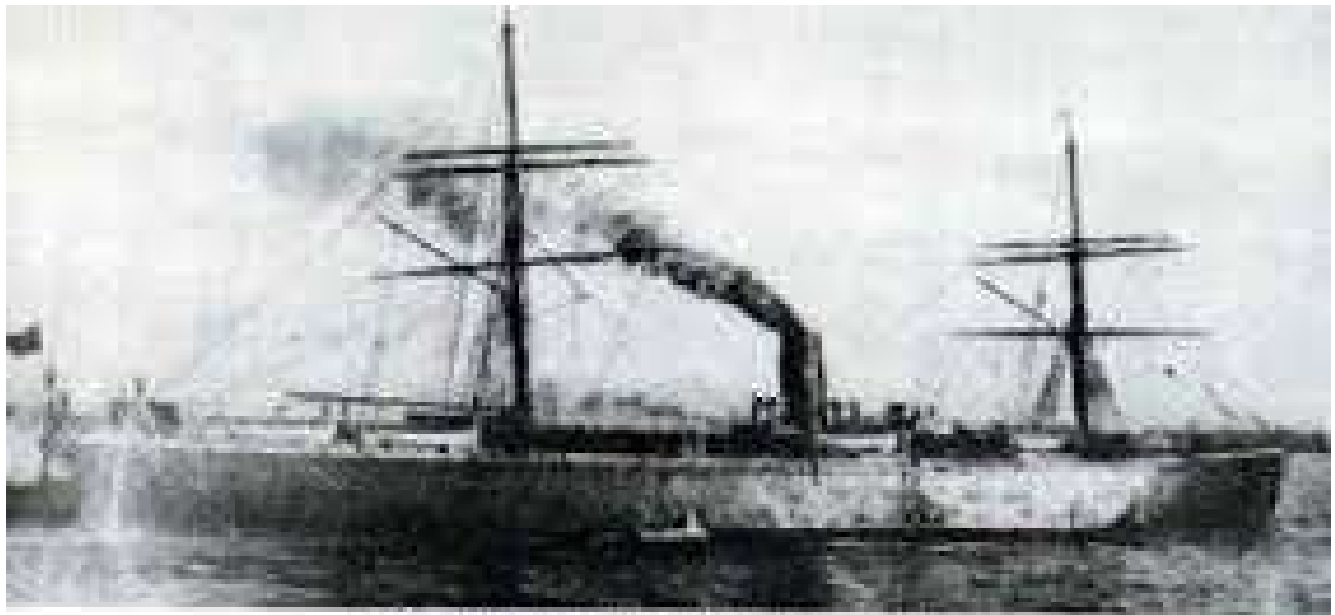

Making their way to America

Thomas's daughters, Sarah, met a missionary named John Colbert and married him. On 18 Oct 1871, from Liverpool, John Colbert, his mother and his new wife, Sarah, made their way to Salt Lake City Utah. Their transport was paid by brother Levi Richards, a missionary friend. John was able to secure work at the Howes Foundry, in Salt Lake City. Sarah's brother, William, also went with them, paying his own way. William had made arrangements to stay, with a missionary friend, in Fillmore, Utah. William worked very hard and saved every penny possible for two years, when he had enough saved up to help pay the transportation for this parents, Thomas & Ann, and his brothers George & Felix.

The story goes, that one Sunday, while the family was at church, Felix found his father's stash of money, hidden in a salt sack. Thomas and Ann had saved over £1,000, which they soon used to emigrate to America.

On 6 Jun 1873, the family came to Salt Lake City, Utah, on the S.S Nevada. While on the high seas, George, Felix, and a young boy named Plant went on the upper deck on a drizzly, rainy morning and the ship was rocking from side to side. It lurched and George and Felix grabbed the railing. The Plant boy missed the railing and was sent sliding to the edge of the boat and they thought he was going overboard.

However, just as he reached the edge of the boat, it rocked the opposite way and he went sliding back. On another occasion, some of the ship's machinery broke and was near sinking. George kept banging on the door, trying to wake his brother Felix up, but "what is the use of getting up, if the ship is going down?", said Felix.

However, things were sorted out, and the ship arrived safely in New York. The family stayed in wonderful place called Castle Gardens. They remained there two days, then caught a train heading west, with Salt Lake City, Utah being their destination.

The journey to Salt Lake City took six days. When they arrived, Salt Lake City, it being the Fall of the year and winter setting in, the streets were very muddy and everything seemed so bare and desolate to the young children. The train depot was nothing but a little shack. Thomas's son, Felix, begged his day to keep going, not to stop, but Thomas said "This was Zion, and the place where they were going to stay".

They were used to seeing the verdant landscapes of England that they were homesick for and wanted to return "Home". However, neither their pride nor their money would allow them to return and they made the best of matters. They were taken in by missionaries whom they had known in England. Elder Richards had invited the family to stay with him during that early winter season.

After a few months, some of the children were offered to stay with another missionary friend near Milford.

The children worked for their board and clothes with the understanding that they should be allowed to go to school. But, apparently, as the days went on, and, although they worked hard enough, nothing was done about their going to school ... and they were not assertive enough to raise the issue. However, when Spring came, they had not been to school and their clothes were worn and ragged, so they came back to Salt Lake City and some got work as an apprentice mason.

Life in Salt Lake City, Utah

The family went to live in the 19th Ward, with their daughter Sarah & husband, John Colbert. The met for Church in the 19th Ward chapel. After six months, Thomas moved the family to the 26th Ward.

There they started a family business of making bricks.

It was here, that the family was baptized again, which was the custom in those early pioneer days, in City Creek, which is in downtown Salt Lake City, near Pugsley's Mill.

Thomas bought an old adobe house on 7th South, between 3rd & 4th West, which was big enough to rent out to his children, as they got married. He later built a new house.

Two men unloading bricks into a storage room at the Salt Lake Pressed Brick Company.

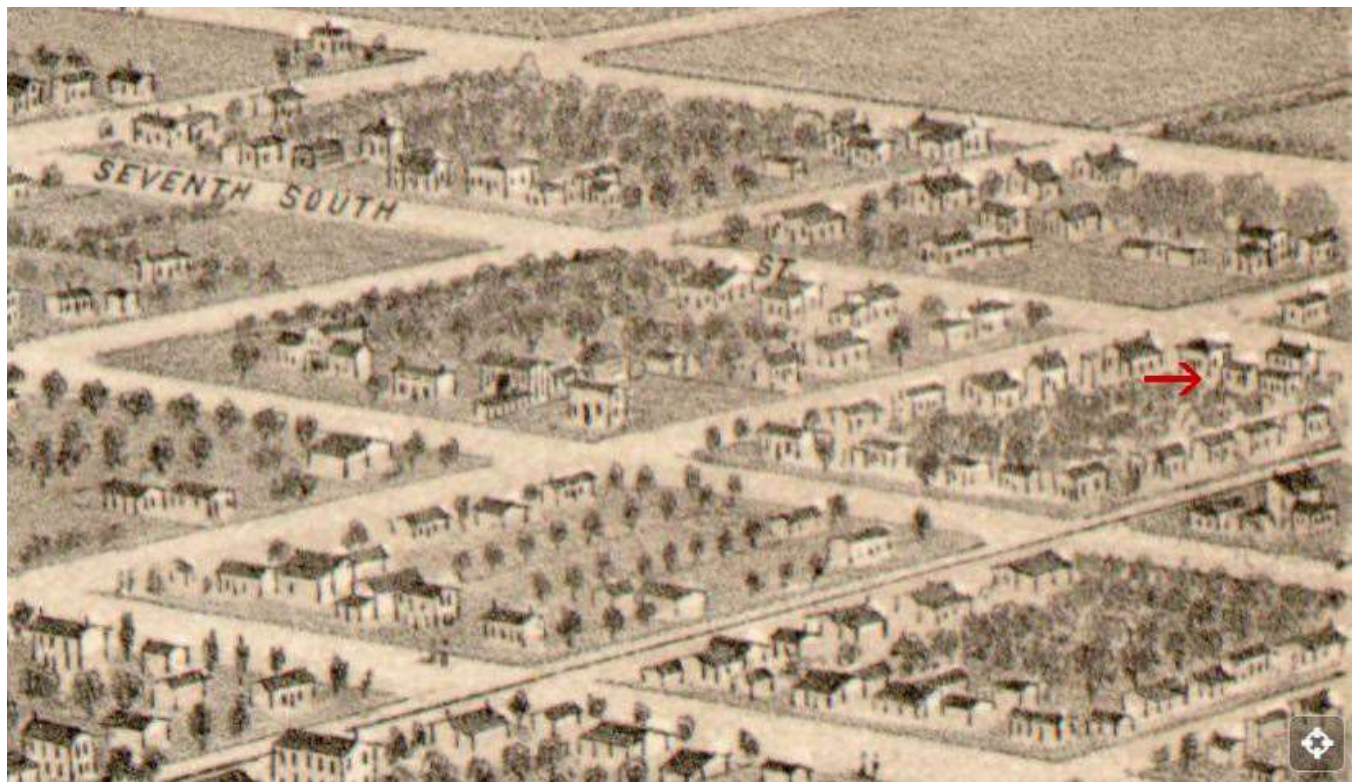

City Creek, today

Thomas & Ann were endowed & sealed in the Salt Lake Temple on 28 Feb 1876. Thomas's wife, Ann, died ten years later on 22 Jan 1886.

About two years later, Thomas married Elizabeth Bower Farnsworth. The family resented their dad remarrying.

Thomas Fitt died 29 Jun 1890.

William Fitt (1853-1920)

Son of Thomas Fitt & Ann Bennett

Wife, Anne Hansen (m. 1876)

William Fitt was born 4 December 1853 in Masbrough, Yorkshire, England. He was the fourth child of Thomas Fitt and Ann Bennett. His older sister, Sarah, was born in 1850. He had additional brother Thomas 1851 and Elizabeth 1852 both of whom died as infants. His younger siblings were George 1855, Felix 1858, John 1860 and Maria 1862. John and Maria both died in 1864

Thomas Fitt and his family went to the Methodist Church in Kimberworth, which is near Rotherham and Homes, Yorkshire, England. On day while walking down the street, Thomas, William's father, heard the Mormon missionaries preaching on the street. He was very much interested and invited them to dinner, and the family were all eventually baptized. Charles Henry Parkins, president of the local Mormon branch, came over every Sunday and conducted services at Rotherham. William was baptized into the LDS Church 14 July 1861 .

The family attended Sunday School in Rotherham between the hours of 9am and 12 noon. . They went home , ate dinner, and then went back to a meeting from 2pm to 4pm. They took a basket supper with them for the evening. They went to their grandmother's house and ate this supper. They then attended a meeting from 7pm to 9pm. They had a donkey cart and some of the smaller children rode in the cart.

William's sister, Sarah, met a missionary named John Colbert and married him. John Colbert, his mother and his new wife, Sarah, and William, made their way to Liverpool. They sailed on October 18

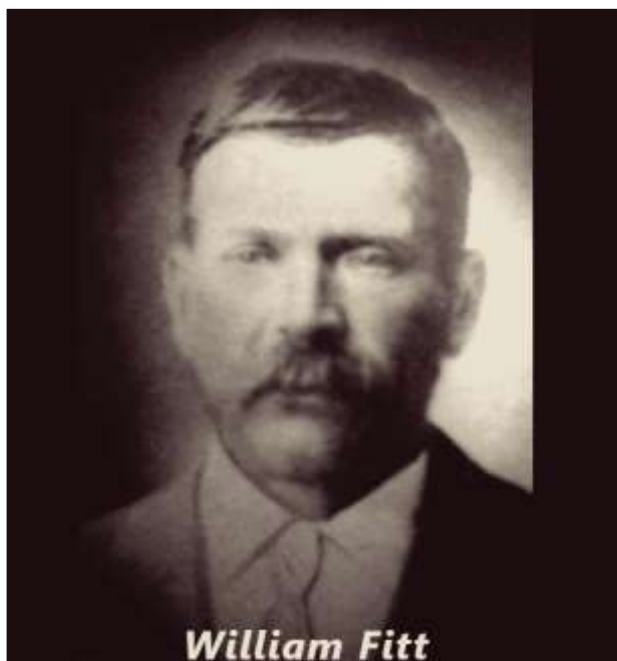

1871 on the steamship Nevada and the trip took about six weeks William had made arrangements to stay, with a missionary friend, in Fillmore, Utah.

It was the fall of the year when they arrived in Salt Lake and winter was setting in. The streets were very muddy and everything seemed to bare and desolate. They were used to seeing the verdant landscape of England and they were tempted to return, but there pride and lack of money would not allow that. They stayed a few months with Elder Richard, one of their missionaries. After a few months William was offered a place to stay by another missionary who lived somewhere near Milford. He was to work for his board and clothes with an understanding that he could attend school. Although William worked very hard nothing was done about schooling. When spring came he came back to Salt Lake and got a job as an apprentice mason.

William had worked twelve hours a day since he was six years old and because of this he had had no opportunity to attend school. Child labor at this time in England was very common. So brick work was not new to William and he soon became a proficient mason. During his lifetime he built or helped to build many of the best building throughout the state of Utah. He also helped build the first coke ovens at Sunnyside, Utah in 1900. William worked very hard and saved every penny possible for two years, when he had enough saved up to help pay the transportation for this parents, Thomas & Ann, and his brothers George & Felix.

William lived with his sister Sarah and her husband, John Colbert until his parents and brothers arrived in Salt Lake June 1873 and then he lived with them until he was married. He married Annie Maria Hansen on 31 July 1876 in Salt Lake City. They had the following children: William Bennett in 1877; Anna Maria 1880; Thomas Hendrick in 1882, Mary Ruby in 1884; Mabel in 1886; Iris May in 1889; Myrtle in 1891, Esther in 1893.; Lawrence Robert in 1895, Cyril Felix in 1897 and Arden G in 1901.

William Fitt died on 24 December 1920 in Storrs, Carbon County, Utah at the age of 67.

The Missing Beer Keg

BOYS STOLE THE BEER.

Unquenched Thirst Among the Guests at a Wedding.

A tale of the depredations of hoodlums who chopped open a shed and stole the keg of beer that was designed to regale the wedding guests at the home of George Pitt, near Third West and Seventh North streets, was poured into the ears of the desk sergeant at the police station late last night by the father of the bride. Mr. Pitt informed the desk sergeant that he had provided the keg of beer especially for the wedding, and fearing that there might be mischievous boys around, had locked it securely in the shed and pocketed the key. When Mr. Pitt went out to tap the keg of refreshments the first time he found several boys standing around and, opening his heart under the influence of the occasion, gave the boys two glasses each. Locking the door behind him and never doubting but that the keg was safe, returned to the company with the drinks. A while later he returned to the shed for another round, and to his astonishment found that two of the boards of the shed had been chopped off, and the keg was missing. The boys were also missing and the secret of the disappearance of the keg was easily guessed.

Mr. Pitt wanted the boys arrested immediately, but was informed that he would have to learn their identity and swear out a complaint against them.

SALT LAKE STAKE ON ANNUAL HOLIDAY

With about 3000 people present, Waudamere was made the scene of an annual outing of the Salt Lake stake yesterday. The Twenty-second ward had the largest attendance, and was given the prize of $25. The twenty-fourth ward had the second largest attendance.

In the feature of national characterization the Germans won the first place, with the Welsh second. Mrs. George Fitt of the twenty-second ward won the prize for having the largest family. Mrs. Fitt is the mother of twelve children, all born and reared within the limits of this ward.

Sports for the younger ones during the afternoon on the race track and dancing in the evening constituted the chief pleasures of the day.

TOWN TALK.

George W. Kelsey, living at 345 West Seventh North street, was brought to the police station at 11 o'clock last night in a partially demented condition, by two neighbors, C. T. Bernstrom and George Fitt. For several days he has been making it extremely uncomfortable to the family, and last night ordered his son Fred to leave the house. He chased him into the street with a club, but was restrained from hurling it at the young man by the timely intervention of Mr. Bernstrom. Kelsey is 65 years of age and was confined for a period in the insane asylum about two years ago.

That tells the story, for "Levi B. Fit," and his name is Levi B. Fitt. Get it? No? Well, it means that two Hun bullets—one in the left shoulder and one in the right knee—were not enough to put Pte Levi B. Fitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fitt, 357 Reed avenue, Salt Lake, out of the fight permanently. Wounded while in action with the Fifty-ninth regiment, he writes that he is rapidly recovering and expects to be fit to fight again soon.

WOUNDED UTAHN GIVEN WAR CROSS

SALT LAKE TELEGRAM, FEBRUARY 24TH 1919

WOUNDED UTAHN GIVEN WAR CROSS

L. D. Flitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Flitt of 357 Reed avenue, has arrived at Ft. Douglas hospital to receive treatment for a wound received in the right shoulder from a machine gun bullet at Chateau Thierry. He wears the croix de guerre, received for capturing two German soldiers in a dugout.

The Croix de Guerre (English translation: Cross of War) is a military decoration of France. It was first created in 1915 and consists of a square-cross medal on two crossed swords, hanging from a ribbon with various degree pins.

The Combatant's Cross (French: "Croix du combattant") is a French decoration that recognizes, as its name implies, those who fought in combat for France. The Poilus (French combat soldiers) of World War I worked toward recognition by the government, of a special status to those who had participated in the bitter fighting of 1914-1918 (as opposed to those who served behind the lines).

Caroline Rachel Wakefield (1858-1946)

Daughter of John Wakfield and Caroline Rachel Wilson

Husband, George Fitt (m. 1877)

Caroline Rachel Wakefield Fitt was born in London, England on the 31st of March 1858. The daughter of Caroline Rachel Wison and John Wakefield. She was their only child.

The Trek to Utah

Over 400 individuals and 65 wagons were in the company when it began its journey from the outfitting post at Wyoming, Nebraska (the west bank of the Missouri River about 40 miles south of Omaha) The company arrived over a period of 2 days, the 1st and 2nd of October.

As a side note: Thomas Greenhalgh & Mary Moorecroft, with their seven children, were also in this same company, headed by Joseph S. Rawlins Company (1866).

At the age of eight she and her mother left England for America with a company of saints, leaving her father in England. They left in May, 1866 and came on the ship called, "The American Congress", landing in New York in July, 1865 after being six weeks on the water.

They then started overland, headed for Salt Lake and traveled as far as the Missouri River by rail. There, her mother died and was buried on the bank of the Missouri River. At this point, Caroline takes her mother's name as hers, for she was born Mary Wakefield.

Captain Bullock assigned Caroline to a family in the company, and they proceeded to finish the trip by ox team with the Saints. Captain Bullock, who headed the company, took pride in seeing that I was well taken care of.

Their first stopping place was the old tithing office yard. They were met by the saints and Caroline was put in the care of some people by the name of pascoe. They took her to live with them until other arrangements were made

However, this family treated her poorly like an orphan would be treated in England. They fed her with the dog and beat her until she had no hair left on her head.

When they got to Salt Lake City, Granny Broadbent (wife of Levi Broadbent) saw her being mistreated and went to Brigham Young. He took her from the family and gave her to Granny Broadbent and her husband. She oiled her head until her red hair grew back. They raised her until she was old enough to be married.

On the 14th of November, 1877, Caroline married George Fitt in the Old Endowment House, and they went to Brigham City to live. After a short time they moved to Ogden and then back to Salt Lake City. Her husband was a stone and brick mason. He helped to build the Salt Lake Temple and many other Church buildings. Her father stayed in England for two years after Caroline and her mother had left, then he came to Utah. He came on the first train into Salt Lake City. After Caroline married he lived with them for awhile, but he never remarried as he said he could never love another woman as he did her mother. He died on December 23rd 1881.

Caroline was the mother of 12 children: 5 sons, and 7 daughters...all red headed. They all married and had families of their own.

Caroline's oldest daughter passed away first, then her oldest son. She was eight-six years when she wrote her history, at that time she had sixty-five grandchildren, and sixty-four great grandchildren. She was still enjoying good health at that time.

Caroline died on February 6th 1946, at the age of eighty-seven.

First-hand accounts of the Voyage & Trek West

From the Autobiography of William A. Blair

. . . I shall not forget the grand old ship with 350 Saints. I may say; the parting from father, mother, brothers and sisters is a trial that came too often in those days. To stand on deck and watch one's home pass slowly out of sight, well, one's feelings cannot be described. However, my help was needed to care for a little girl who, with her mother had left father, he being opposed to the Saints, and thought they could come to Zion and be happy. Dear Sister Wakefield, her heart failed her as she stepped on deck. She tried to return, but we were moving out to sea. The dear woman had to be carried below. She said to me, "I shall never walk again".

She asked me if I would care for the little girl. Well, she was carried up on deck many times during the next six weeks but failing every day. She passed away on the banks of the Missouri.

I had been to the river to wash my clothes. I stayed in the water too long, took cramp and was laid on a bed by the side of the dear dying sister.

I remember telling the little girl to keep the flies out of her mother's mouth, and knew no more for three days. Some motherly women woke me and offered some broth. I asked for Sister Wakefield. She said she was buried two days since and the girl had gone on the plains. Thus ended my care for the poor child. However, in a few days I was ready for the trip and started with Daniel Thompson's train. . .

From the Diary of Joshua K. Whitney

. . . In company with Brother Nicholson, administered to Sister [-] [POSSIBLY: Wakefield] who was ill. At 11 a.m. attended meeting which was held between decks of this vessel where, Brother Childs and Cambel [Campbell] & Grover & myself addressed the Saints.

. . . Arrived at St. Joseph on Friday the 13th of July, all in good spirits at near 8 p.m., having only one death on the cars which was Sister Wakefield, who has been ill ever since she left London.

. . . Thursday the 19, fine day here all day. Sister Wakefield was internal who died at 3 a.m. She has been ill all the way from London.

This would be how the Steamship American Congress may have looked like.

Editor Deseret News

After reading Brother Aveson's account of his short experience on the good ship American Congress, I submit a short chapter from one who came through.

I was acquainted with the good Sister Wakefield and the little girl he speaks of. We came from the same branch. She fell sick as soon as she stepped on deck. And realizing she could not care for her 12-year-old pretty and vivacious girl, begged the writer to look after her, the same being no small job. She was always tormenting the sailors. I had to run and save her from the "rope's end" many times.

I pass over the many things that happened during our six weeks' voyage, the splendid meetings, manifestations of the spirit, and many escapes from icebergs, we landed in New York, July 4, 1866. Our poor sister was failing fast by this time, unable to walk, carried like a babe. We arrived at the camping ground on the Missouri, and she found a place at last, where she could die in peace. I had spent some hours in the river washing my clothes. I took an awful cramp, and was laid by her side. I remember begging the little girl to keep the flies out of mother's eyes.

and then all was oblivion.

I do not know how long I was in this condition. I was told that good Brother John Nicholson administered to me, and I was healed. Upon inquiring for our dear sister I was told she was dead and buried, and the girl sent on to the Valley. This was sad news, indeed for a 15-year-old boy, sick, without father or mother. The walk of 1,000 miles, and the many trials passed through on the way, the tired and weeping mother, who held her dying babe in her arms in the dead of night without light or nourishment, while she listened to the howl of the wolves—and many such scenes I pass over.

I must say our dear Captain Paul Thompson, of Fillmore, and his gallant crew with their 80 wagons made the noble red man sit up and take notice. A better, more virtuous and manly captain and crew, never crossed the desert.

But to conclude: Some years later Brother Wakefield, having joined the Church, began the search for his blessed daughter and after travelling from place to place, was directed to the writer. When I told him my story he was broken-hearted. I hope he found that blessed girl, and that they still live.

I trust that this short chanter may find some one who will be kind enough to drop me a line, and may the memory of that blessed mother who gave her life the gospel's sake ever stimulate her loved ones to the latest generation.

Yours, WILLIAM M. BLAIR,

Upon inquiring for our dear sister I was told she was dead and buried, and the girl sent on in the Valley. This was sad news, indeed for a 15-year-old boy, sick, without father or mother. The walk of 1,000 miles, and the many risks passed through on the way, the tired and weeping mother, who held her dying babe in her arms in the dead of night without light or nourishment, while she listened to the howl of the wolves, and many such scenes I pass over.

I must say our dear Captain Paul Thompson, of Fillmore, and his gallant crew with their 60 (80?) wagons made the noble red man sit up and take notice. A better more virtuous and manly captain and crew never crossed the dessert.

But to conclude, some years later Brother Wakefield having joined the Church began the search for his blessed daughter and after travelling from place to place, was directed to the writer. When I told him my story he was broken-hearted. I hope he found that blessed girl and that they still live.

I trust that this short chanter may find someone who will be kind enough to drop me a line and may the memory of that blessed mother who gave her life the gospel's sake ever stimulate her loved ones to the latest generation.

Felix Fitt (1858-1940)

Son of Thomas Fitt & Ann Bennet

Wife, Harriet Harper

Maternal Grandfather

By Lois Fitt Hill

Felix Fitt, was born in Garratree Homes, Rotherham, Yorkshire, England on 28 June, 1858. Garratree Homes was one mile from Sheffield and near Marborough, which was one and a half miles from Rotherham. Felix had red hair and steel gray eyes. He was about 5 ft.6 in. Tall and very straight of stature, never becoming stooped at the shoulders when at the age of eighty-one at this time (1939). Felix's father and brothers worked in the coal mines in the winter. Felix would not go into the mines. During the summer they worked making bricks. Felix worked with them and his job was to carry bricks from the mold table to dry in the sun. Felix was under eleven years of age. With his parents, Thomas Fitt and Ann Bennett Fitt, he belonged to the Methodist Church, and attended services at Kimborthy about a mile from home.

His family were converted to the faith of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, being baptized June 2, 1857 in England.. The family attended Sunday School in Rotherham between the hours of 9am and 12 noon. . They went home , ate dinner, and then went back to a meeting from 2pm to 4pm. They took a basket supper with them for the evening. They went to their grandmother's house and ate this supper. They then attended a meeting from 7pm to 9pm. . They had a donkey cart and some of the smaller children rode in the cart. This was hard work for the donkey and he did not want to attend meetings and visit. But going home he would run all the way. They all had nice Sunday clothes and plenty of good food to eat

The story goes, that one Sunday, while the family was at church, Felix found his father's stash of money, hidden in a salt sack.

Thomas and Ann had saved over £1,000, which they soon used to emigrate to America.

When Felix was fifteen years old he left England with his parents to come to America. They set sail from Liverpool, England, 4 June, 1873 on the steamship Nevada. They arrived on 16 June, 1873 in New York. At this time his father, Thomas Fitt was 46 and his mother, Ann Bennett Fitt 44, and his elder brother George was 18. Their daughter, Sarah, had married in 1871. Previously, his older brother William, aged 19 had sailed from Liverpool, England on the steamship Nevada, on 6 September, 1871. William worked very hard and saved every penny possible for two years, when he had enough saved up to help pay the transportation for this parents, Thomas & Ann, and his brothers George & Felix.

On the ship while traveling on the ocean, George and Felix and a young boy named Plant were on the upper deck on a drizzly, rainy morning and the ship was rocking from side to side. It lurched and George and Felix grabbed the railing but the Plant boy missed the railing and was about to slide over the edge of the boat. Just as he reached the edge of the boat, it rocked in the opposite way and he came sliding back. On another day there some machinery that broke and there was fear the ship would sink. Everyone was excited and got up and dressed except for Felix. George kept banging on the door and telling him to get up because the ship was going down. Felix said, "What's the use of getting up if the ship was going down?". However everything was adjusted and they crossed the ocean safely

Felix Fitt and family after arriving in America crossed the plains on the railroad in 1873. They reached Salt Lake City. Felix, begged his dad to keep going, not to stop, but Thomas said "This was Zion, and the place where they were going to stay". They were used to seeing the verdant landscapes of England. However, neither their pride nor their money would allow them to return and they made the best of matters. They were taken in by missionaries whom they had known in England and settled on Seventh South and Fifth West Streets.

Thomas with the aid of his sons made adobes, or unbaked brick using a hand mold to form them and drying them in the sun. Of these adobes he built their home. This was in the Fifth Ward and the family attended church services here.

On 25 April, 1883 my father, Felix, was married to my dear mother, Harriet Harper. For her, he built a two room house of adobes which he made himself. In this house I, Lois, was born on 28 February, 1884. One of the earliest recollections of my father was his sorrow at the death of his pet dog, Leo, who had died in a patch of tall weeds. I stood by him holding his hand wondering, at my first sight of death. During this period my father worked at the Denver and Rio Grand railroad yards as a boiler maker. When trains came in at any hour of day or night he was called to mend the boilers of the engines. At this noisy work his hearing was slightly affected.

When I was about three or four years old he went to Park City and worked there for awhile, times being hard in Salt Lake City. I now had a baby sister, Edna, whose birthday is 28 November, 1887. About this time my Aunt Amy came to live with us and we spent many pleasant evenings that I loved. Aunt Amy had a guitar, which she played while father and she sang all the songs they knew. Father sang the tune and she the alto. Such songs as I remember and still love are, Genevieve, Then You'll Remember Me, Flow Gently Sweet Afton, Listen to the Mocking Bird, Kathleen Mavorneen, and many other old favorites. Father always took his children and grandchildren on his knee and sang to them. His grandson, Earl Jacklin has fond memories of this.

After this, my father worked at the Salt Lake Pressed Brick Company in Mill Creek about seven miles south of Salt Lake City. I think he rode in a car with Uncle Jesse, mother's brother, returning home each evening.

I now had another sister, Della born in 1891. Then Thomas bought an acre of land in Mill Creek and built a large one room brick house, later adding a room of lumber on the back which we used for a kitchen. I had a snowball fight with my father when the walls of the brick house were partly up. I had to dodge down behind the walls when I saw a snow ball coming my way. I wonder if he has forgotten such a little incident fifty years ago or so.

My brother Clarence was born in 1894 and he was a weak sickly baby, having so much bronchitis during the winters of his early childhood. My Aunt Ada lived next door and we children played with her children, Jessie and her twin boys, Harper and Percy Calwell. I attended the Scott School where the Granite High School now stands at 33rd South and 5th East. My grandfather Thomas Fitt had died and when his estate was settled, father traded his place in Mill Creek to my step-grandmother for a double house on 3rd West and 7th South Streets in Salt Lake. So we moved back into town. My father still worked at the brick yard and he bought a small sorrel horse named Kitty. He would let us children ride on Kitty's back while he led her to drink. Once while passing under some trees, Edna caught hold of the branches and Kitty walked on leaving her hanging there. Of course she cried calling father's attention and he took her in his arms. My father was always kind and good natured and always worked hard and steady to get mother everything she needed. He improved our homes and liked to have things nice and to give us good things to eat.

When I was fourteen my father sold this place and we moved out to Mill Creek again, renting a house at first and it was then that Hattie, my youngest sister was born in 1898. I was in the eighth grade at school so I rode into Salt Lake on the street car till I graduated in June. Then my father bought two acres of land and he built us a six room house of white brick with two lovely porches. This place is on Scott Avenue and 8th East Street. We planted fruit trees, berries and garden. The ground was heavy and hard to work and was filled with alfalfa roots which the plow had cut off. We piled these roots up to dry and used them for fuel all summer.

He also got a cow, chickens and pigs and a bay horse called Nellie. She was a fine horse for the buggy, a good traveler but when father put her on the plow she would run as fast as possible, then stop with a jerk when she gave out. She was a trial on father's patience. But we had many pleasant hours of riding her for it was our main recreation. My parents always took all of us children wherever they went in the surrey. Later father bought trout and placed them in ponds that he had built at the back of the place near the creek which ran across the land. These trout were sold on the market. This creek bottom also served as a pasture for the horse. Father still worked hard at the brick yard. Mother was a hard worker too and she planted flowers of every kind beside climbing vines and shrubbery, lilacs, snowballs, syringa, and honeysuckle.

Before the front room of the house was furnished, my parents let us young people have parties in it and we danced to the music of an accordion played by two girls and two boys named Phillips, each taking a turn. We also had cakes and sandwiches. This reminds me of one party and father thought he would get the stove rag and clean off the teakettle on the kitchen stove, which he did. We had always had a cast iron teakettle and was used to cleaning it this way. But the one father cleaned was a new enamel one so it made it look as black as the stove. On account of the dim light of the coal oil lamp it was not noticed until morning. It was here I had a birthday party when I was fifteen.

The next fall, in 1899, my father sent me to school at the University of Utah to learn to be a teacher in public schools. I had to go in to town on the street car after walking a mile to get to the car. He was pressed for money at this time, having built a larger house than he first intended, that it was very hard for him to send me to school. I very much appreciated his efforts on my behalf at this time.

In a few years he bought us an organ and we took lessons on it. Later he bought one of the best pianos obtainable. I was soon married but Della and Hattie became good players of the piano. Clarence was sent through High School and Business College. Della finished High School and taught school. And Hattie was sent to High School for two years, also Edna.

When I was twenty in 1904, I was married to Royal Hill and my parents gave us a wonderful wedding reception, about one hundred people attending. We lived next door to them for five years till we had three children. Then mother's health failed and she was very ill in bed for months. When she was about the house again she never felt as she should. Father was always so good and patient with her and helped her as much as possible with her work. He was a very good reader having gone through the fifth reader at school which was about the highest attained by children at this time. Nearly every evening when mother went to bed he would sit by her side and read books to her by the hour which she enjoyed very much. Mother had been a good reader until her eyes would not allow it.

Father still worked at the brick yard and with Hattie's help took good care of mother. Hattie was a dear faithful daughter. After her marriage to Leigh Barnes they lived with our parents. Father then rented the house in Mill Creek and got a job in Harmony Court in Salt Lake City as caretaker for these homes. Soon after this, mother passed away on March 29, 1927. Father, Leigh and Hattie and their little son Dick moved out to the old home in Mill Creek again for it was becoming in need of repair again after being rented. Later in 1929 they all moved to Los Angeles having been encouraged to do so by Della and her husband, who had gone there and had obtained work.

Ten years have passed and father likes California better all the time. The old house has now been sold and father receives money monthly to help him now that he is old. Mother always wanted to keep the home for use in their old age and it is sad that she is not here to be able to share it with him in that lovely warm climate.

It is now 1939 and father is now past eighty-one and is in very good health, though his legs won't carry him as well as he could wish. His hair is still the old color with a very little gray at the temples and he is still very much interested in life. He arises at six and calls everyone out of bed while he sets the table for breakfast.

Add by Richard Bennett Barnes, his grandson

My parents, Leigh and Hattie had a small two-bedroom home in Los Angeles. Felix slept on a twin bed in one bedroom along with his grandsons, Dick and Don had bunk beds. Dick remembers them gathering around the piano in the evening with Hattie playing and Leigh sometimes playing the violin while they all joined in singing.

When the big 1932 earthquake hit Southern California the family was sitting in their small dining nook. The first one in was the last one out since there was no room around the chairs. Grandpa Felix was sitting at his usual place at the back when the earthquake struck. But for some unexplained reason he was the first out of the nook and the first one out of house.

Felix also took care of Dick and Don while Hattie was away with her Ward and Stake Primary assignments. Don remembers that Grandpa always carried him on his shoulders when they went to the market. And also that Felix liked to walk up and down the street to visit with neighbors.

Felix died at home while sitting in a living room chair. The boys came home from school activities and found the ambulance leaving. The death certificate states the cause of death as a heart condition.

Felix with two of his daughters.

SALT LAKE STAKE ON ANNUAL HOLIDAY

With about 3000 people present, Wadamsere was made the scene of an annual outing of the Salt Lake stake yesterday. The Twenty-second ward had the largest attendance, and was given the prize of $25. The twenty-fourth ward had the second largest attendance.

In the feature of national characterization the Germans won the first place, with the Welsh second. Mrs. George Fitt of the twenty-second ward won the prize for having the largest family. Mrs. Pitt is the mother of twelve children, all born and reared within the limits of this ward.

Sports for the younger ones during the afternoon on the race track and dancing in the evening constituted the chief pleasures of the day.

THE SEAL OF THE U.S. INSPECTION SERVICE
U.S. INSPECTED AND PASSED

Your Protection
Whenever you purchase foodstuffs, you should make sure that they are "inspected and passed." This is the only guarantee of high quality, purity and wholesomeness. If you buy your food from the "Mountain Brand" you are sure to get the "Mountain Brand" products, and you are sure to get the "Mountain Brand" products, and you are sure to get the "Mountain Brand" products.

Cleanliness
As associated with foodstuffs, it is demanded by all housekeepers. That's why the United States Government pays for the official inspection it gives everything we produce, and for its rigid supervision of the sanitary conditions connected with our manufacturing plants. It enables us to positively assure all consumers that our products are clean every whiff, pure every ounce, and honestly worth the price asked.

"MOUNTAIN BRAND" PRODUCTS

Mountain Brand Raisins are the kind of raisins you like. It is properly dried and packed "just right." It is tender, yet firm—does not soften or become a sticky mass of sugar.

Mountain Brand Raisins are a real household necessity. Come to a local store, the nearest grocery or department store. Or call on us—we'll get a lot more of Mountain Brand.

The Oils and Greases that Reduce Lubricating Costs

READ the statements at the left. They are by men who know--by men who have tried Utah Oils and found their worth. Factories, mills, smelters, mines--in fact all who have need of good oils are using oils produced by the Utah Oil Refining Company. Of course there is a reason. These oils under test and actual operating conditions, have proven to be among the market's most efficient and economical oils. If you try them and don't find them satisfactory in every way, return the unused oil to us and get your money back. But we don't think we shall have to refund your money. Because once you use Utah Oils and Greases, you will ALWAYS use them.

Three Products We Suggest that You Try at Once:

VINDICATOR Steam Cylinder Oil	UNION RED Engine Oil	YANKEE Cup Grease
---	--------------------------------	-----------------------------

Exhausts recommended for high speed steam engines, 100 to 125 pounds. This oil is the best and most durable that has ever been made. It is the only oil that will stand up to the most severe tests and still give you the best results. It is the only oil that will stand up to the most severe tests and still give you the best results. SINCE 1864

Time 1864 — Auerbach's has been making barrels throughout the West, by good value, superior service and a reputation, steadily earned in the neighborhood.

No wonder — Auerbach's in 1942 is International America's leading sheet-metal store — not only in style and value, but in customer acceptance.

PACKERS of MOUNTAIN BRAND MEAT
Help You - And You - And You

.....and you can't buy better meat at any price!

The American Packing & Provision Company, packers of Mountain Brand meat, is one of your largest international relations and maintains more than four million dollars in the territory each year. More than $1,000,000 goes to cattle, sheep and hog products; more than $100,000 for transportation; more than $100,000 is paid in salaries, and more than $500,000 is spent weekly for supplies.

It's natural to feel that you should purchase Mountain Brand products...and give your dollar a chance to pay extra back to you. But don't buy cheap for this reason.

Get Mountain Brand meat because of its quality and the full value you receive for every dollar. You can't buy better meat at any price.

Everyone wanting to live economically ought to realize that it is actually, as this money goes from one person to another, circulating and re-circulating through vast amounts of trade.

The Mountain Brand meat is known as meat of the best of both of both...and you'll find it everywhere...not because of loyalty to an international industry, but because you like it!

AMERICAN PACKING & PROVISION CO.

Being proud of your quality meat, you should be so proud and pleased by the United States Government.
